Clever Masisimani is an admitted conveyancer and qualified legal professional with extensive experience across conveyancing, labour law, estates, trusts, and related legal fields.

His career reflects both depth and versatility, spanning legal practice, consultancy, and training, while also extending into academia through workshops and facilitation. Clever's expertise is grounded in strong technical knowledge and complemented by a practical approach that enables him to effectively support clients and colleagues in navigating complex legal matters.

Clever has accumulated over a decade of professional experience across the legal and education sectors. His conveyancing expertise was honed at Maynard Menon Govender Singh Inc, where he managed property transfers, bond registrations, cancellations, and provided advisory services on related transactions.

He has also gained extensive experience in deceased estates and trusts, assisting clients with consultations, estate reporting, drafting wills, liquidation and distribution accounts, as well as the creation and amendment of trust deeds. In the field of labour law, Clever has been actively involved in research, consultations, CCMA representation, and conducting workshops for university management teams.

His legal background also extends to criminal law, where he handled bail applications and trial preparations. Beyond practice, Clever contributed as a facilitator at DKS Consulting, where he delivered labour law training and employment equity workshops for institutions such as Mangosuthu University.
